

ESCAPE FLAMES AND WHEN COMBAT COLD

Thrilling Experience of Crew of Tug That Burns Far From Shore.

LOREINE, Ohio, Dec. 19.—The fishing tug Pendopole of Cleveland burned this afternoon, four miles off shore. The crew of three escaped after a battle with flames, which almost cost them their lives. The boat, which belonged to A. H. Langwell of Cleveland, was bound for its winter quarters at St. Clair, Mich. This afternoon Charles Inches discovered fire in the woodwork above the engine room and in only a few moments his position and that of the engineer and fireman became untenable. While they were endeavoring to cast loose the tug from the two yawls, the yawl caught fire. The men were forced to take refuge in the other, a smaller one.

The sides of the tug were in flames before they launched their little craft. There had been no time to don their life jackets, but they were able to get into the yawl and the day was one of the coldest of the winter.

The men's gear and boards were crushed with ice before they had gone a mile. Two miles off shore they encountered shore ice too thin to bear their weight, but thick enough to impede the progress of the boat. Through this they were compelled to break their way.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH—Endersby-Windor company. Evening, 8.

There is a bill at the Orpheum this week, the best one seen there this season, and as good as any that has ever been presented upon the stage of this popular playhouse. It is a diversified bill and one that has something to please everyone.

The headliner is "The Drums of Doom," in which Miss Minnie Seligman and William H. Bradley are the stars. The play is a new one, and it is a most meritorious one. If there were nothing else upon the bill but this, it would be a gem. It is given for some exceptional acting and in this both Miss Seligman and Mr. Bradley are excellent. The lines are good, there are so many truisms brought out. The old story that love is stronger than death is retold. It discusses how man's future is ruled by a woman's past; how a man's friends do not do for him what his enemies do. The climax is reached when a thunderbolt strikes down the woman when she is informed that her husband has died in the electric chair.

As the lawyer, Mr. Bradley is assisted by the thunderbolt of God. It differs from the ordinary playlet seen in vaudeville, and it takes a hold upon the audience to the end of the act. It is, as said, perhaps the best playlet ever seen upon the Orpheum stage.

There is another sketch on the bill, a domestic farce, entitled "The Breaker," in which Miss Edwina Barry, as Dolly Plumhoff, does a star stunt. She has the audience in a constant roar of laughter from the start to the finish. Miss Barry is assisted by William Richards and company. As a laugh maker it is a corking good sketch. Then a remarkable series of stunts are presented an act that is not only interesting, but one that is exceptionally difficult. The trio are exceptionally handsome specimens of men. Their act is, in view of the stunts, in the most graceful and, out of the best of its kind ever seen at the Orpheum.

There is harmony and fun and lots of fun in "The Bedouin Quartette," consisting of Messrs. Elliot, Adams, Weber and Hayes. Their singing as a quartette, as individuals, in duet and in trio, was well above the average, while the work of the comedian of the quartette was more than clever.

The famous Scotch comedian, Jock McKay, made a hit with the big audience when he appeared. He dresses in kilts and in his several songs he was above the average. His stories are new, and he tells them in an inimitable manner.

The Swiss Quartette is a local act, the members being residents of Salt Lake. They are natives of Sweden and this was their first public appearance. They were given a rousing ten days ago.

Carletta, "the Humbug Dragon," has been here before. He is a unique athlete and has made some changes in his act since he was here a year ago. The stage settings add to his act, the scene depicting a green swamp and he as a green dragon disports himself upon a green stump. His contortions are exceptional. Added to all this is the splendid music.

Catch Cold!

How often it happens that serious illness, and sometimes death, is directly traceable to a common cold. After it is too late, what would we not give to have checked the cold at the start, when it would have quickly yielded to simple home treatment?

One of the most effective remedies for coughs and colds is made by mixing two ounces of glycerine, a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whisky. These can be bought in any good drug store and easily mixed in a large bottle. It is claimed by the Leach Chemical company of Cincinnati, who prepare the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure, that a teaspoonful of this mixture four times a day will break up a cold in twenty-four hours, and cure any cough that is curable.

by the Orpheum orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Willard Wells. The entire play, "Lucia," was rendered in a most delightful manner. The kindred programme concludes this charming production.

"Sweet Innisfallen," with its wealth of beautiful scenery, its characters drawn to nature, its strong line ringing with the cry of oppression of the Irish, and redolent with the wit of the sons of Erin, was presented to a capacity house at the Colonial Sunday evening. The cast is an excellent one and not a single jarring note is recorded through the entire play. Bernard Barry, as Desmond Moore, is a star in the leading role, sings and talks his way into the hearts of his auditors, his voice possessing a sweetness that is seldom found in a man's singing.

The play is founded on an accidental murder, the scenes being laid in the vicinity of Lake Killarney. During the quarrel between Desmond Moore, an Irish lad, and an English nobleman, the latter was killed by the accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of Grace Moore, Desmond's sister. To shield her from punishment, the brother takes the blame upon his own shoulders. The accidental killing was witnessed by a drunken jockey, the secret finally gets out and everything is straightened out nicely in the end. The action of the play takes place during the time that Desmond Moore is a hunted fugitive from justice. The situations are evolved from the plot.

The play, having been written by Mr. Daly himself, is one in which he has an excellent opportunity to display his talents. It is undoubtedly the best entertainment offered by the Colonial management for some time and will be enjoyed to the fullest by all who take advantage of the chance to see Mr. Daly at his best.

Owing to a delay in setting the scenery, the first curtain was delayed almost to the verge of impatience Sunday night, not being until a few minutes past eight. The play continues throughout the week with the usual matinees.

At the Grand theatre on Sunday night Miss Maud Leone achieved another distinct success in the dream-play of "Kathleen Mavourneen," which she has made a popular place of amusement for a run which is to continue throughout the week. Miss Leone is a superbly trained actress, the promise justified by her first week's work in "Kathleen Mavourneen," that her entire stay in Salt Lake would be characterized by an unbroken reign in the favor of patrons of the Grand theatre.

Miss Kathleen, the lady not only finds a means by which to exhibit her ability as an actress, but one which is a charming and graceful physical expression. She is completely molded to the part and gives full play to her qualities in fulfillment of all requirements of the role. Her singing is some and great-hearted Irish girl. Willard Mack has the character of Terrence Moore, the honest and fearless, who sometimes bashful Irish lad who in love with Kathleen, and right well he does. David O'Connor, the Irish tenant and father of Kathleen. He does good work, and of him it may also be said that he is more than a good actor. In the brogue, Mr. McCullough as Bernard Kavanagh of the aristocracy is also in love with the beautiful Kathleen, and out of this fact comes the later affluents the Irish girl's life. Kavanagh marries Kathleen, but soon finds that she is not what he expected. He tells her that they were not legally and properly united and offers her an annuity to leave him. At this point, however, Father O'Cassidy (Mr. Frederick Allen) comes to the rescue by proving the legitimacy of the marriage. In the end all turns out well, with Terrence O'Moore as the champion of Kathleen and the maker of her eventual happiness.

After the awakening from the warning dream.

All the supporting characters are well sustained. The cast includes Joe Kennedy, Elmer Booth, Earl Plinger, Ed Clarke, Frank Stack, Tom Fox, Beale and James Rennie, Inez Baird and Pearl Eiler.

The house was filled almost to capacity and the play will undoubtedly go before good audiences throughout the country, as it is one of those productions which appeal to the heart and the sentimental disposition of humanity for fairness and sympathy toward virtue misdeeds. The engagement will carry up to and including Saturday night's performance.

Among the most delightful comedies seen in many years is Henry B. Harris' comedy, "The Traveling Salesman," which comes to this city on Thursday evening for three nights, where it will play at the Salt Lake Theatre. It was designated by the critics of New York as the most laughable comedy seen in years, which was indeed the case. The play is a masterpiece of New York, where the place enjoyed an uninterrupted run of nine months. It is a play designed by Mr. Harris, the author of "The Traveling Salesman," who is intended principally for the purpose of making the management of the play a success. The play is a masterpiece of comedy, and it is unquestionably the best management of mirth and merriment ever seen in this city.

One of the features upon the programme that is appearing at the Mission this week is Jack McCallen and his company, who appear in their gorgeous parody, "The Awakening of the Toys." In this act they appear as automatons dolls, who suddenly awaken to the life of Toyland. The piece is elaborately staged and is a masterpiece of the kind. McCallen and his company are premier stars. One of the most wonderful acts of the kind ever seen here. On Wednesday and Thursday the play will be given, and on Saturday a complete change of bill will be seen.

"The Vagabond King," coming to the Shubert next week, will be one of the best of the season's attractions. It is a beautiful romantic drama, with the locale in one of those quaint musty half-medieval courts of Southern Europe on the border line of oriental civilization. A weak king and the prince of a neighboring kingdom are the main characters. The play is a masterpiece of the kind, and it is unquestionably the best management of mirth and merriment ever seen in this city.

OPEN LETTER

To the Mass. Mutual Life Insurance Co.:
Gentlemen—Your fifty-seventh annual statement shows that your little over $252,000.00 to policy-holders who died from Kidney Disease and Diabetes last year.

In line of test cases Fulton's Compounds have shown an efficiency of 87 per cent in these cases, and if those policy-holders had been advised of this treatment and our figures maintained, you ought to have nearly $200,000 of those losses in your treasury.

But let us say that making due allowance for our enthusiasm, the proven efficiency should be reduced 50 per cent. That would still mean that you are losing $100,000 a year, due to lack of knowledge of these specifics. Is not that vast sum worth saving? Is not that humane duty to carry hope into clouded homes?

An idea of the magnitude of this question of retaining their money in the life insurance companies unless something is done, can be had from the following census deaths from Bright's Disease:

1890	22,000
1891	25,000
1892	28,000
1893	31,000
1894	34,000
1895	37,000
1896	40,000
1897	43,000
1898	46,000
1899	49,000
1900	52,000

(The figures for 1900 are based on U. S. mortality reports for 1901-2-3 and 4.)

Why not send a man to each city and advise those of your policy-holders who have Bright's Disease and Diabetes of this treatment? They will be glad to hear of it, and we want to hear from them and advise every one not getting results.

We have had a letter from a man who says that we can probably save to your treasury over $100,000 annually. And what is true of your company is true of every other life insurance company of equal business and importance.

Showing very truly,
JOHN J. FULTON CO.
P. S.—As you know what is actually going on, will say that a policy-holder of the Prudential, living in Detroit, was very fond with Bright's Disease, and the announcement of her death was expected daily when she was put on Fulton's Renal Compound. The loss was saved and she is living today. One of the local representatives of the company was so impressed that upon hearing that another policy-holder in the same city was dying with Bright's Disease and a loss was imminent he took our Detroit agent with him and the second patient on the treatment, and we are now advised that he, too, is recovering.

Looses that are getting ready to mature can and are being stopped all over this country, but the Life Insurance Companies will not realize the full measure of our help to their bank accounts until they take notice and pass the word to their agents.

For Bright's Disease, Fulton's Renal Compound is the one used. For Diabetes, Fulton's Diabetes Compound. In either case, write to your city agent, P. J. Hill Drug Co., 50 W. 2nd South. Literature mailed free. Address John J. Fulton Co., 212 First Street, San Francisco, Cal.

GAS, DYSPEPSIA, HEARTBURN AND ALL MISERY FROM STOMACH GOES.

Indigestion and All Other Stomach Distress Goes After Taking a Little Diapiesin

You can eat anything your stomach craves without fear of Indigestion or Dyspepsia, or that your food will ferment or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapiesin occasionally. Your meals will taste good, and anything you eat will be digested; nothing can ferment or turn into acid or poison or stomach gas, which causes Belching, Dizziness, a feeling of fullness after eating, Nausea, Indigestion (like a lump of lead in stomach), Bloating, Heartburn, Water brash, Pain in stomach and intestines or other symptoms.

Headaches from the stomach are absolutely unaccountable where this effective remedy is used. Diapiesin really does all the work of a healthy stomach. It digests your meals when your stomach can't. A single dose will digest all the food you eat and leave nothing to ferment or sour and upset the stomach.

Get a large 50-cent case of Papo's Diapiesin from your druggist and start taking now, and in a little while you will actually brag about your healthy, strong stomach, for you then can eat anything and everything you want without the slightest discomfort or misery, and every particle of impurity and gas that is in your stomach and intestines is going to be carried away without the use of laxative or any other assistance.

Should you at this moment be suffering from indigestion or any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.
